Type of Governor: Co-opted Governor and Vice Chair
Sub Committee – Standards (Chair)

My name is Alison Harrison and I have been a community governor at Paddox Primary School since December 2016.

I am vice chair and chair of the standards committee. My background is in Education and I have been a teacher for over 11 years. Many years ago, I completed a teaching practice at Paddox and since then I have seen the school has expand and change in many ways.

I have two children at Paddox and during my time as a parent, I have volunteered in many ways including classroom reading and school trips.

My areas of responsibility are Early Years and Curriculum.

I believe we have a responsibility to ensure all young people have access to the best possible start in life through a good education and social activities, where each child is encouraged to fulfil their full potential. I am very proud of the school's dedication, hard work and reputation as well as its Ofsted report and as a governor I have always tried to offer commitment and enthusiasm to ensure the school continues to develop within its ethos of a caring community where every child matters and is valued for their individuality.
